The whole number of scholars in town, April 1st, 1890, was 348, the village district having more than fifty-three per cent of them. About one-fourth of the schools taught in town this year have had less than five scholars for the average attendance and at a cost of more than one dollar per scholar per week. The question arises: is this the best that can be done? The law providing free text books went into effect Aug. 1. In accordance with a vote of the town at its last annual meeting, your committee furnished the schools with a part of the books for the summer term and all of them at the commencement of the fall term. This report shows the number of books purchased and cost of same. We have overdrawn, for this purpose, the amount raised at the last annual meeting and we think it will be necessary to raise $150 this year to make up this deficiency and furnish other necessary books.

In closing this report, we wish to express the opinion that the schools have maintained the standard of the past and that most of the teachers have labored faithfully in the interest of their pupils.
